would you like to explore

Would you like to explore . . what it means to be human? If you would like to unwind and spend Thursday evenings exploring thoughts and feelings in a casual setting – then read on. The Associated Students are sponsoring a sixweek summer literature "class," but don't be fooled by the term "class," in this "class" there are no enrollment sheets, no credit in units, no grades. It started yesterday, June 24th, but don't let that deter you from coming to one, two or all five of the remaining sessions. We meet each Thursday evening, 6-9:00 p.m. at Lawrence Fixel's house, 1504 Willard St. It is open to anyone in the campus community: employee, student, faculty, or patient. The instructor (guide) is poet and author, Lawrence Fixel has been teaching literature and writing classes at and around the medical center for three years. In this setting, though, everyone is part instructor, part student, part leader and part follower.

This "class" is deliberately a non-rigid, open-ended learning situation. Wishing to explore alternatives to the rather sterile environment in which we find ourselves, the Associated Students have attempted to set up a relaxed environment which would foster people relating personally as well as intellectually. This is a class of people as well as ideas. While several books have been selected as points of reference, how you feel about the books and the class is of the utmost importance.

Stop by this coming Thursday evening and listen, relax, and speak up if you feel like it. come - explore...

Spokesman for our panel of physicians today is Dr. R. Fenlon of San Francisco, who asked Mrs. Gottlieb:

"Tell us my dear, with all your experience with private practitioners, do you really think Senator Kennedy's nasty little national health insurance plan is necessary?"

Mrs. Gottlieb: "Oiy that Teddy Kennedy, is he handsome! By me he can do no wrong. Nothing. He should only give Nixon hell in seventy-two. But I'll tell you something, when I was having my trouble - by the way, have I shown you my scar? No? You must see it. What a beautiful job my surgeon did. Do you know Dr. Kaplan? That man is a regular prince. They all say he's the best. And you know what he used to say to me? 'Emma,' he would say, 'nothing is too good for you.' A regular prince he is.

"Anyhoodle, when my Sol was alive, may he rest in peace, he would tell me 'Emma what is it with these doctor bills? Enough is enough. What are you trying to do, kill me with your doctor bills?' But I could always shut him up with something to nibble on. 'Come Solly', I would say, 'have some fish.' And he would mumble with crumbs on his mouth, 'It's a good thing for you we don't depend on that measly social security check, that's all.' It's seven years now he's been gone, my Solly."

Editorial policy

The Synapse welcomes the contribution of well written articles, letters, and poetry during the summer from UCSF patients, students, staff, and faculty for publication during the 1971-1972 school year. Challenging and thought provoking copy will be given preference over pedantic and announcement type articles. If you have complaints over aspects of this campus, please also include feasible solutions. The ancient Chinese poetic dictum that any thought can be expressed in 12 lines applies in general to all submitted copy. Please be brief, use well chosen words, and try to avoid the jargon used by so many in our culture to display their technical vocabulary.

"What special projects have you planned for the summer?"

Susan Parker, Physical Therapy Student

"I plan to read as much as I can because I've been so busy this past year. I haven't been able to keep up with my reading both for my classes and for pleasure."

Greg Hahn, Medical student III "Hmmm. Getting married ... if that's considered a project, and finding a job which is not an easy task and going on a delayed honeymoon to an undisclosed location."

Bill Hagbom, Medical student

"Unfortunately I don't have any free time during the summer. I have a straight block of classes for the next 12 weeks.

Colette O'Keeffe, Medical student II

"I haven't planned any projects. I've left this summer open to do things as I want to. Backpacking. Ice skating indoor, you don't get any outdoor ice rinks in the summer."

Robert Bryant, Mail Clerk employee

"One is that I'm going to move out of San Francisco, maybe down to San Mateo and commute here because the cost of living is too high plus I'm about to get drafted into the Armed Services and maybe if I don't get drafted I'll start thinking about more things after the summer.'

Neal Brown, Biochemist (visitor from Baltimore)

"I plan to go back to Baltimore in a week, take a vacation in Maine. I will continuedoing research and continue to spend the taxpayer's money to the best advantage of the taxpayers."

"A trip to NIH (National Institute of Health) in Washington to study of course. What else is there in life?"
